Deepening into practice – Coming to cause

February 11 – 13, 2016

Postgraduate course in craniosacral biodynamics for CS practitioners

with Kavi Gemin and Bhadrena Tschumi Gemin

Drawing from their experience of 30 years, Kavi Gemin and Bhadrena Tschumi Gemin have developed and transmit a deep understanding of craniosacral biodynamics in teaching and practice, for the benefit of practitioners and clients alike.

This postgraduate course is dedicated to deepen the practice and to study the alive principles of Biodynamics in individual treatments.

The biodynamic concept demands of the practitioner the capacity to think biodynamically.

A practitioner must build his/her professional competences, not only by gathering new information, knowledge and techniques, but also by integrating skills and patiently deepen professional and clinical experience.

Clinical experience and deepening of understanding is what increases a practitioner's competence and the ability to use every known and new skill with confidence, expertise, knowledge and wisdom.

This course is developing the capacity of the practitioner, who needs to be coherent and skilled to apply the tools of the trade with knowledge, competence and understanding.

Dr. Sutherland gave us one advice. He encouraged us "to dig on", to continue to deepen the search and not be satisfied with the "first small potatoes", that one finds.

Once you know how to think, feel, see, hear biodynamically, you realize that any new skill can be acquired and used at the service of the tide.

Let us listen to the voice of the tide in the development of the treatment, and for the benefit of the client. Let us work with the health of the client that wants your help to return to wholeness.

Deepening and metabolizing the acquired skills is about working on clinical understanding, and it helps develop the presence and expertise of the practitioner.

This requires determination, honesty, and a deep love for the client.

It requires the courage to move and develop beyond the personal limitation, to grow bigger and ever more competent.

In this course we combine the deepening of biodynamic understanding with the development of new skills and methods of application.

“Coming to cause” – is one huge new principle you can expect to get from this course.

The study of clinical cases will be used to expand the understanding of the practitioner about the unfoldment of the inherent treatment plan, while the practice will provide additional tools for more specific interaction with the intention of the tide.

The teachings will give in-depth practical information for your work with clients and is of great support to become even more effective in your treatments.

Coming to the heart of the issue is one of the important explorations of this training and therefore recommended to all biodynamic practitioners.

Content

- Study of clinical case histories: exploring coming to the heart of the problem
- Support with the issues you encounter in your daily practice
- Practicing with each other, what we discover in the case studies
- Developing an understanding of normal and of Health
- Orientation to Health as a diagnostic tool
- Recognizing biodynamic forces in action
- Ordering principles, theory and palpation
- Working on different levels of manifestation
- Follow the will of the Tide
- The field of emergence of the treatment plan

The following therapeutic craniosacral skills will be enhanced and developed during this course:

- Perceptual skills
- Ability to synchronize with the Tide
- Recognize and support metabolic and physiological processes
- Increase in clinical therapeutic effectiveness
- Maintenance, support and improvement of the state of health of the client
- Accuracy in following the unfoldment of a treatment
- Coming to the heart of the cause
- Love and compassion in the therapeutic setting

To all participants:

We want to invite you to bring some clinical cases from your practice that will give us the opportunity to study and reflect on.

If you want to present a situation for which you would want support, bring the following information:

- General information about client (man/woman, age, physical condition, living situation, etc.)
- The motivation for which they came for sessions (what would the person like to gain from the session?)
- Short history (illnesses, accidents, general health)
- Biodynamic evaluation (capacity to come to neutral, expression of fluid body, expression of potency, inertial patterns, etc.)
- How did you work so far?
- Difficulties or doubts about treatment

We also want you to ask permission from the client to bring their situation to the class.
The name will stay anonymous.
Let them know that they will benefit from us looking together, how best to support their healing process.

We look forward to see many of you next February.
